

VOCOLLECT INTRODUCES NATURAL-SOUNDING VOICE OPTIONS FOR MOST WIDELY USED LANGUAGES

Now features 43 different voice options in 26 unique languages

PITTSBURGH, PA (May 18) – Vocollect, Inc., provider of the most widely used voice systems for improving supply chain performance, has introduced its newest Vocollect Voice enhancement – more human-sounding voice options for mobile workers in distribution centers (DC)/warehouses. With these enhancements, Vocollect now offers 43 voices in 26 unique languages.

These new voice options, and the ability to configure the voice system to automatically load voices based on worker preference, provides companies with additional flexibility and choice for their workforce. While the traditional voices used in thousands of Vocollect implementations worldwide have maximized efficiency in performance, the new voice options have a more human sound, which improves worker job satisfaction. Many of the system voices are available as male or female speakers.

“Vocollect leads the voice market in functionality, breadth of product offering and global reach,” said Tom Upshur, vice president of product management and marketing, Vocollect, Inc. “This new enhancement to our Vocollect Voice portfolio is in direct response to feedback from customers who have been highly satisfied with the functionality and value of their voice system, but wanted a more natural-sounding voice option.”

Over half of the new voices provide natural-sounding options to workers who speak simplified Chinese, traditional Chinese, Czech, Danish, Netherlands Dutch, United States/United Kingdom/ Australian English, Finnish, French, French Canadian, German, Greek, Italian, Japanese, Korean, Norwegian, Polish, Portuguese, Brazilian Portuguese, Russian, Spanish, Latin American Spanish, Swedish, and Turkish.
